'GUINNESS WORLD RECORD - OFFICIAL ATTEMPT'

Dear Parent,

Many of our students from grade 4 and above have been busy completing their website development project as part of the Habitat Web Development programme, which seeks to hone their Web development and Coding skills. To provide a global platform to these students and their work, the school along with sister Habitat schools will attempt a new Guinness World Records (GWR) title in the category "Most users in a Web Development Video Hangout". This record attempt is planned for 10 January 2022. It will be an online event and students who have completed their web development projects will be participating in this event, the briefings and trials of which are underway.

An online trial round to allow participants to prepare for the actual event, is scheduled on 04 Jan 2022. A second online trial is scheduled on 8 Jan 2022. These trials are to ensure that all goes smoothly on actual event day on 10 Jan 2022 and all participants are aware of their role and the tasks they have to complete on that day to ensure their successful participation. Class teacher will give instructions to students on how to join online on the day of trial.

The Guinness World Records - Official Attempt will showcase the talent and skill of our students on a global platform and the commitment of Habitat Schools to support coding initiatives. On successful completion of the Attempt, participants will receive certificates of participation from Habitat Schools. A certificate of participation from Guinness World Records will also be available for interested participating students against an amount specified by the GWR office.

Time slots and instructions to participate in the Guinness World Records - Official Attempt event on 10 Jan 2022 will be shared by the Class Teacher. All the students who have developed their own websites as part of the Habitat Web Development project should attend the trial rounds, to enable their effective online participation in this world record attempt.

Looking forward to your support for our budding coders.
